Request to negotiate foreign cheques – indemnity

Qudos Bank has entered into arrangements with Western Union Business Solutions (Australia) Pty Ltd (ACN 150 129 749; AFSL 40409) (“WUBS”) whereby WUBS assists Qudos Bank to fulfil certain foreign exchange and payment services, including foreign cheque conversions. WUBS is an operating division of the Western Union Company. Qudos Bank has a revenue share arrangement with WUBS. See our Financial Services Guide for further details.

I request Qudos Bank to act as my agent to arrange for the foreign cheque(s) described above to be negotiated with WUBS on my behalf.

I agree to pay the relevant conversion fee(s) for the negotiation of foreign cheque(s) and that the conversion fee(s) will be deducted from the proceeds of cheque at the time it is deposited into my Qudos Bank account:

- > $20, for cheques processed on a cash basis (normally for amounts under AUD $5,000)
- > $50, for cheques processed on a collections basis (normally for amounts over AUD $5,000)

However, all SGD and HKD cheques will be processed on a collections basis.

Cheques processed on a cash basis will normally be credited to your account within 2 weeks, but may take up to 16 weeks to clear. Cheques processed on a collections basis are credited and cleared at the same time – which may take up to 16 weeks. I agree not to hold Qudos Bank responsible for any delays exceeding these timeframes.

For cheques processed on a cash basis (where the funds are credited to my account prior to clearance) I agree that if the cheque is subsequently dishonoured, Qudos bank will debit the funds from my account.

In addition to the conversion fee(s) described above, I agree to indemnify Qudos Bank for any negotiation fees, dishonour fees or any other fees imposed on them for the transaction (whether or not it is successful), including by WUBS, the correspondent bank or the beneficiary bank. I authorise Qudos Bank to debit my account for any such fees.
